RECOGNITION FOR ONESTONEGROVE AT THE BARNET ARCHITECTURE AWARDS 2017

The innovative concept and design of OneStonegrove has received further recognition by winning the award for Best Civic Project at the inaugural Delivering for Barnet Architecture Awards. The awards celebrate and promote well designed buildings and open spaces that enhance the quality of life for Barnet's residents. The ceremony took place on Tuesday, November 21, 2017 at Middlesex University's campus on the Burroughs. This important accolade complements the recent regional award from the Civic Trust.

Architect Rob Sprunt commented on the way the award highlights "the inspirational collaborative effort which symbolises the whole community coming together". Trustee Gil Limor said "The award recognises the way in which the joint vision of community and church has come together with architecture and design to create OneStonegrove: a unique communal hub that succeeds as a civic project on so many different levels".

The judges praised the way the design "promoted community cohesion and interaction through a good use of space with many community activities taking place under one roof."

Rev Simon Rea "The successful design of OneStonegrove/St Peter's Church demonstrates how a church initiative to draw together resources has helped make a single joint building which is so much greater than the sum of the parts for the benefit of the whole community."

We were delighted to welcome Prime Minister Theresa May to OneStonegrove.
